VOLUME 35, No. 28

SIERRA MADRE, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1941

FOR 35 YEARS
this newspaper has been devoted to the welfare of Sierra Madre. It is home owned and has no other interest.

Fete Crowds Set Record At Vine

Wistaria Blossoms Now Loveliest In 50-Year History

World's largest Wistaria Vine sets blossoming record, attracts great weekend crowds!

Thus, tersely, might this week's Fete story open—failing utterly to convey to Southern California folks that Sierra Madre's Big Vine now resembles a soft carpeted ceiling of rich lavender. Freshened by the rain showers the bloom is perfumed exotically, and thousands more buds have crowded their way into blossom until now the trellis supports are obscured completely by wistaria color.

Last Sunday's attendance set a new record for the festival since it was taken over by the present management—a total of 2,710 persons passing through the turnstiles, exceeding the preceding record day set last year with the coronation ceremonies. The weekend figures brought the total for the first two Fete weeks up to 9,529. The total compares favorably with the "good old days," when as many as 5,000 persons visited Sierra Madre of a Sunday.

Contributing much to the Sunday program, the Norris family

ATTENDANCE HOLDS UP
Despite showers attendance at the Wistaria Fete is above that of recent years, as shown by the following figures:

Wednesday, March 26	505
Thursday, March 27	605
Friday, March 28	379
Saturday, March 29	546
Sunday, March 30	2,710

Fete Total to Date ..... 9,529

orchestra has been called back for the second time—and this Sunday again is expected to prove a big drawing card. The girls (Mrs. Nina Norris, included) and the lone lad will play throughout the day, and in the afternoon a very special tea guest will appear.

This guest—radio's famous Mirandy. The original hillbilly girl, who appeared with the old Beverly Hills Billies, and whose dialect crooning and who sang wowed the newspapermen at the Press shindig. Mirandy is going to conduct a garden tour as she thinks such tours ought to be conducted.

After that she'll be guest of honor at the Sunset Supper; and Maria Wilkes, president of the Sierra Madre Garden Club, will preside at a more serious sort of garden forum.

Saturday evening Mrs. Morris Geggie presents the third and final concert in her Fete series, Elizabeth and Harlow Mills in a violin and piano recital.

Joins Air Corps; Off To Philippines

Another Sierra Madread went into service with Uncle Sam's forces in the far East this week, when John Ropp left for San Francisco from where he will sail for the Philippine Islands for three years service as ground electrician with the Army Air Corps.

Ropp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ropp, former Sierra Madreads who now live in Burbank. He went to school here and in Pasadena, and recently had been employed at Lockheed Aircraft. Previously he had electrical experience at March Field.

Home Guard Proposed For Sierra Madre

Desirability of forming a local unit of the California State Guard home defense force which during any emergency would be equipped to function in place of the National Guard which has been mobilized into the U. S. Army, was discussed by Col. Jack Hastie, Jr., of Glendale before a group of representative citizens of Sierra Madre and Arcadia at Wistaria Vine Gardens Thursday evening.

Col. Hastie declared himself in favor of the establishment of thoroughly equipped military units composed of select groups of 38 men who are ineligible for the draft. Service of the men would be entirely voluntary, they would serve without compensation, and would supply their own uniforms.

Sierra Madreads who attended are carrying out further investigation of the plan before undertaking the sponsorship of such a group here. Present were Leo Cullum, Harry Lange, Dr. L. M. Evans, Frank Spencer, Waverly Pratt, W. L. Burr, Carl Hansen, Vinton Hoege, Tom Schwartz, Gordon McMillan and Walter Thurber of this city, and eight men from Arcadia.

Display Of The Flag On Army Day Asked By Gov. Olson

Officially designating Sunday, April 6th, as "Army Day" in California, Governor Culbert Olson this week called upon all civic organizations throughout the state to assist in sponsoring appropriate celebrations for the day.

In his proclamation Governor Olson stated: "In California we have more Army encampments, with our total of 35, than any other state in the Union. To date, 25,850 of our youth have been inducted for military training under the provisions of the Selective Service Act, and 12,167 more will be called before June 30. Our national Guard with its 769 officers and 12,000 enlisted men are in active training as an important part of our regular army force."

To honor these young Americans who form the greatest peace time army which this country has ever known, there will be military parades, celebrations and special church services on Sunday, and on Monday the Governor has requested that all stores, homes, public buildings and every classroom in the state display the American flag.

City's Oldest Resident Passes Away

D. A. Hauk, oldest resident of Sierra Madre and one of the early settlers in Canyon Park, passed away Friday at his home, 686 Brookside lane, at the age of 94.

Mr. Hauk was born in Eaton, Ohio, and came to California 35 years ago. For several years he lived in Long Beach where he was well known as an expert engraver and jeweler. Upon his retirement 17 years ago he built his home on Brookside lane, then an almost inaccessible district.

During his residence here he wrote and illustrated several unique books in which he recorded the interesting experiences of his life, and created many beautiful art objects which he carved from native woods. Last December he and Mrs. Hauk celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary. A simple funeral service was read by Mrs. Alice Pawson at the family residence Monday afternoon. Burial was in Sierra Madre Cemetery.

Mr. Hauk is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Hauk; two daughters, Mrs. Bessie Scalet of Hanson Heights, and Mrs. Janet Clark of Pasadena; a son, Wallace, also of Pasadena; seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Ask Parents To Hear The Bands Play

School Musical Organizations Make First Public Appearance Today

Final school assembly before the beginning of the Easter vacation will be held this afternoon at the public school auditorium at 1:00 with the school orchestra and band making their first public appearance.

Membership in the orchestra has grown from 22 at the opening of the school year to 50 interested players, 36 of whom have had no previous training. This group will play the opening march, one incidental number and will close the program with the school song, "Sierra Madre," orchestrated by Hobart McLaughlin, with lyrics by Mrs. Yada Adams.

The band now has 30 members, seven without previous training, and will participate on the program, playing two selections. Both of these groups are under the direction of Mr. McLaughlin.

Also appearing will be the fifth and sixth grade chorus, directed by Miss Mary Pfahler, and the senior girls glee club directed by Mr. McLaughlin. All parents and friends of the children are invited to attend.

12 Days Left To Pay State Income Tax

Just 12 days now remain in which to file a return of annual income under the California State Personal Income Tax act by all those persons, single or head of family, whose net income amounted to $1,000 or more during the year 1940.

Married couples must file if their combined net income amounted to $2,500 or more, and all persons, married or single, whose gross income equalled or exceeded $5,000 must file, regardless of their net incomes.

Hemet Girl Wins Coveted "Ramona" Role

For the first time in the history of "Ramona," famed outdoor play of early California, a Hemet girl will act the title role. Juanita Encell, who has been Margarita for five seasons, was selected after auditions of many candidates for the part. Above she is seen out of character (left); as the Indian girl Ramona (center) and as a Spanish senorita (right) in the first scenes before she learns she is an Indian. As a compliment to the play Max Factor of Hollywood prepared a special make-up for Miss Encell. The 18th season opens April 19 in picturesque Ramona Bowl near Hemet and San Jacinto.

Sierra Madre Girl Is Badly Injured When Cars Crash

Marjorie Bradley, 15-year old daughter of the Winfred Bradleys of 154 North Mt. Trail avenue, received severe back injuries and pavement burns when she was thrown from a car driven by Marilyn Houston, 661 Mariposa avenue, which was involved in an early morning accident at the intersection of Foothill blvd. and Santa Anita avenue Saturday.

She was taken to the Monrovia Hospital where she will remain for at least two weeks. Miss Houston was not injured.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Miss Houston proceeding south at the intersection was struck by another proceeding east on Foothill blvd., driven by Robert W. Lutz of Santa Paula. Neither driver was held.

To Celebrate Founding Of CCC Here

Art Udell, one of Sierra Madre's early residents who is now forest superintendent at the Angeles Crest unit of the CCC at Oak Grove Park, is one of a committee of three arranging a special program which will be given at the park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in celebration of the eighth anniversary of the establishment of the CCC.

Udell will be present Saturday and Sunday to welcome visitors to the Camp who have been invited to inspect this local CCC unit between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. when the camp will hold open house.

Everyone May Hear Lecture By Noted U.S.C. Professor

The next meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, April 9, will be open to the public, without charge, to give everyone interested a chance to hear the lecture which will be given by Dr. Lawrence D. Pritchard, professor of political science, economics and public relations at the University of Southern California. His subject will be "Democracy's Decade of Dilemmas."

This lecture, which begins at 11:30 a.m., was the highlight of all the lectures at the Women's Civic Conference at U.S.C., and those who heard it believe it is one that every American should hear.

Dr. Pritchard, who enjoys a reputation as a speaker of distinctive ability, has appeared before several hundred clubs, schools and civic gatherings throughout California and has received exceptionally favorable comments for his vigorous and thought-provoking speeches. Before assuming his present position he was for three years assistant director of co-ordination, prior to that he was executive secretary of the Institute of Government.

A buffet luncheon will be served at noon.

Building Permits Exceed Those of '40

Building permits for Sierra Madre during the first three months of the year are $24,883 ahead of the same period for 1940, it was disclosed this week by city building inspector Wm. Lees. March, however, fell behind the two preceding months probably due to the continued wet weather and permits only totaled $5492 for the month, far below March, 1940. Total permits for the year to date are $56,340.

Ask Zone Variance For Old Peoples Home; Fix Hearing

Tuesday evening, April 15, has been set by the Sierra Madre Planning Commission for the hearing on the petition for a zone variance made by the British Old Peoples Home. The hearing will be conducted in the council chamber of the city hall and will begin at 7:30.

Application was made for the variance so that four additional sleeping rooms and two baths may be added on the east side of the main unit of the home, located at 647 Manzanita avenue. The district is zoned for single family residences.

The home is a benevolent institution maintained for elderly British people, and is supported by the Daughters of the British Empire.

ONE FLAG

The American people—not any class of people, but the American people—are as patriotic a people as ever lived in a land of free-men. We really are! When the Flag passes by, the man in shirtsleeves, and the man in double-breasted suit, both doff their hat—not just by force of habit, but usually in real reverence. We love America. We really do! Each and every one of us, if need be, would make any sacrifice to save America. We really would!

A few days ago we thought of these things when we chanced to read a fervent appeal from the Office of Production Management—signed by Director General William S. Knudsen; Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson; Associate Director Sidney Hillman, and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. This appeal asked two classes of Americans—labor management—to forget past grievances and serve UNDER ONE FLAG. It pointed out that "if the totalitarian forces of the world are victorious, all the hard-won rights of labor will be destroyed and both capital and labor will become the involuntary vassals of an all-powerful State."

We are a rugged, rough-hewn, plain-spoken people. We battle, sometimes, just for the joy of battling—and to prove that we can dish it out as well as the next one. But now we have a common enemy; that enemy is arrogant autocracy—or, to use the modern word, totalitarianism. When next a labor meditation board meets, we suggest that the American Flag be placed above the table. When next labor and capital sit down to arbitrate, we suggest that proceedings start with a salute to Old Glory. It might help—somehow we believe it would—in solving the whole problem.

Begin Training For Track Meet At Recreation Center

With the annual Kiwanis spring track meet only a month away, youth athletes in town are going into training and outdoor training equipment is being installed on the lot adjoining the Kiwanis Community Recreation Center on East Montecito avenue. Participation in the meet will be restricted to those holding membership at the Center.

Events will include the 50, 100 and 220 yard dash and possibly the 440 yard relay; running and standing broad jump and high jump, and basketball, baseball and football throws.

Clarence Huntsinger, chairman of the Center, has announced that last week 854 children and adults participated in games there, setting an average daily attendance of more than 100.

Several youngsters are also doing beneficial technical work on radios and are also developing a public address system.

11 Former KC Heads Launch Fund Drive

Kiwanis Club To Raise Sustaining Purse For Local Youth Organizations

First drive for a Sierra Madre Community Fund to be divided among local youth organizations, got under way this week with 11 committees, each headed by a past president of the Kiwanis Club, delegated to the work of raising $1000 through public subscription.

Upon the success of this venture depends the continuance of the activities of the Camp Fire Girls, Boy and Girl Scouts, Brownie Scouts, the Y.M.C.A. which sponsors the Friendly Indians, and the Kiwanis Community Recreation Center, which opened last fall and now has a membership of almost 300 children and young people.

Subscribers to the fund may contribute any amount, and all will receive membership certificates.

Whole hearted and generous endorsement of the Community Fund project, was given by local educators Wednesday evening, when teachers at the grammar school pledged $100 to the fund as their contribution.

Sponsors of the drive who voice the opinion that organizations which meet the needs of the youth of the nation are of vital importance in combatting the development of subversive doctrines during periods of national crisis are Mrs. Waverly Pratt, Mrs. Gretha Patterson, Mrs. R. E. Parmenter, Mrs. L. F. Pierson, Mrs. Raymond Andrews, Col. H. B. Hersey, W. D. Richards, Dr. L. M. Evans, Donald R. Damon, Clarence Huntsinger, R. C. Lewis, Joseph Weber, Rev. Frederic Grootsema, L. R. Goshorn, Dr. Arthur O. Pritchard, Rev. John Neal, Father Augustine Scannell, W. A. Kinney, Gordon McMillan, Harry Holland, Henry Nord and Frank Spencer.

Fire Trail On Mountain To Help City

Spur Above Sierra Madre Will Connect With Improved Mt. Wilson Road

The old Mt. Wilson toll road over which thousands of sightseers have traveled to gain a mountain top view of the San Gabriel valley, and which has been closed since 1938, will be reopened as a fire control road by July 1.

At that time a new 170 foot concrete bridge across upper Eaton Canyon on the Toll road will be completed, and ready for use. This modern structure will replace a wooden trestle which was washed out in the March floods of 1938.

CCC crews from the Tuna Canyon Camp near Montrose are now at work on the toll road, building new drains and doing general erosion control work.

At a later date the truck trail now under construction from Chantry Flats will proceed across the mountains back of Sierra Madre and will be connected with the Toll road, thus giving this community greater protection from future forest fires.

Stiff Jail Term For Drunk Driving

Arrested for drunk driving on Sierra Madre blvd. Monday evening, Arthur Haines, 38 North Auburn avenue, appeared before Judge Neale in City Court Tuesday morning and was given a $100 fine or 30 days in the county jail. Unable to pay the fine, he began serving his sentence Tuesday afternoon.

Sell Estate Of The City's Founder

104-Acre Mountainside Home Of Late N. C. Carter Goes To Pasadena

Carterhia, the home estate of N. C. Carter, founder of Sierra Madre, and one of the famous landmarks of the city, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius G. Willis of Pasadena.

The imposing Carter home, built in the early eighties, and 104 acres of the original Carter holdings, were included in the purchase.

Some of the finest specimen trees wood the estate, which also has an abundant private water supply. The house, built on the mountainside and surrounded by an orange grove, an attractive garden and berry patches, commands a wonderful view of the entire San Gabriel Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis now make their home at 770 Arden Road, Pasadena, and for the present have no definite plans for the property other than using it for a retreat. They have two sons, Ted and David, aged 16 and 14, and one daughter, Anne, who is eight. Mr. Willis is a geologist and engineer, associated with the Hilldon Oil Co.

Arthur N. Carter, son of the founder of Sierra Madre, will continue to make his home on the estate until early summer, when he will leave on an extended tour of the Canadian Rockies with his sister and daughter. He will be custodian of the estate on his return.

Observance Of Holy Week Is Planned

Beautiful Pre-Easter Services Begin At Local Churches On Palm Sunday

The opening of Holy Week on Palm Sunday will find churches throughout the city joining in the beautiful traditional services of the pre-Easter season. A procession of the junior choir and reception of adult members will take place at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the Congregational Church and during the week there will be special services each evening at 7:30 in Campbell Chapel.

Blessing of the Palms, procession and Choral Eucharist will be conducted at the Church of the Ascension at 11 o'clock Sunday morning while a service of devotion and preparation for Easter communion will be held Thursday evening at 7:30. Service of the Passion will be conducted from 12 noon until 3 p.m. Friday and Friday evening at 7:30 the beautiful cantata "The Seven Words of the Cross" will be sung by the choir. Holy Baptism will be at 4 p.m. Saturday.

At St. Rita's Shrine there will be Solemn Blessing of the Palms and a procession of the altar boys at 11 o'clock Sunday. Father Paulinus Hughes will be the celebrant.

On Good Friday at St. Rita's there will be a Mass of the Presanctified at 8 a.m. and beginning at noon there will be the traditional Tre Ore at the Passionist Fathers Monastery, with sermons by Father Daniel Maher, C.P., and special music by St. Rita's children's choir. Holy Saturday procession and High Mass will be at 7 a.m.

This Area May Stay In 11th District Under Compromise

A compromise on re-apportionment of assembly and congressional districts in Los Angeles county, apparently satisfactory to both Republican and Democratic leaders in the 11th and 12th congressional districts, has been embodied in a state-wide reapportionment bill introduced in the assembly at Sacramento, it is reported.

The Pasadena and Sierra Madre-Altadena assembly districts will remain together in the 11th congressional district under the compromise plan.

Under the compromise setup the 11th congressional district, represented by Carl Hinshaw, would be composed of the 42nd assembly district (without Burbank and Antelope valley); 43rd, Glendale; 47th, Pasadena, and 48th, Sierra Madre and Altadena. The 12th congressional district, represented by Jerry Voorhis, would lose the 51st assembly district, composed of the Belvedere Gardens area, but would retain the 49th, Arcadia and Monrovia; 50th, Whittier, and 53rd, South Pasadena, San Marino and Alhambra.

What They Say:

Assemblywoman Jeanette Daley, San Diego—"An actual labor shortage is imminent in California. By the first of August there should not be a single able bodied man in idleness here."

N. Chandler, gen. mgr. L.A. Times—"When people lose their ability to govern there's always someone willing to step into the driver's seat and do it for them. That is how democracy is lost and dictatorship is born."

Bartley C. Crum, S.F. Attorney—"In machine-controlled politics, a man who decides against the machine finds its weight thrown against him in the next election. This process is under way in California now, and we are witness to it."

Silvio Tosi, 20, under death sentence for S. F. murder—"If you want to finish a kid, send him up to Preston or Whittier. They're crime schools. Kids would all be bicycled up there like that if it wasn't for the newspapers."

Ted Malone, radio poetry reviewer—"Men like poetry but few admit it. However, nine out of ten men carry a clipping of verse in their wallets."

STATE PICNICS

New York, Washington and Oregon will hold their annual spring picnic reunions, all day Saturday, April 12th, in Sycamore Grove Park. Each will have separate sections of the park and open county registers.

The Iowa Association will hold its great winter picnic reunion all day Saturday, April 26th, in Lincoln Park. If rainy that day, or just before, it will be postponed one week.

How To Live Happily With Fellow Beings Told Junior Women

Stressing the fact that, "in order to live happily with our fellow beings we should all try to acquire a better knowledge and respect for the intricacies of personalities," Mrs. Mary Blair Wallace spoke before the Junior and Senior Women's Clubs on Wednesday, which was Junior Day at the clubhouse.

Following a short business meeting, a poem, written by Mrs. Waverly E. Pratt and dedicated to the Juniors was read and the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Gretta Patterson, president of the Junior Club. Mrs. Patterson introduced Mrs. W. D. Gibbs, president of the Los Angeles district of Juniors, Mrs. William Lees, Sierra Madre Junior Advisor, and Mrs. John H. Robertson.

Tea was served in the Junior club rooms to guests and members of both clubs. Francis LaLone and Mrs. Helen Needles presided at the tea table.

Million Dollars Worth Of Horses To Parade At Riviera

Aidan Roark and Eric Pedley, famed internationalists of polo, will be in the line-up of all-star malletmen who will play in the high goal matches at the gala benefit Equicade Saturday and Easter Sunday, April 12 and 13, at Riviera Country Club.

In aid of British and Dominion War Relief this colorful celebration will attract a showing of about $1,000,000 in horseflesh and equipment, a spectacle without parallel on the coast, according to Tom Pilcher, director of the Easter Parade.

Crowds of stars are expected for the polo, steeplechasing, Battle of Balaklava, Mounted rescue race, flat racing and other attractions.

Dr. Leroy McBurney Opens Offices Here

Dr. R. LeRoy McBurney, son of the late Dr. M. R. McBurney and Mrs. McBurney, of 646 West Sierra Madre blvd., has opened offices at that address with hours from 8 a.m. until 12 noon and in the evening by appointment.

Dr. McBurney came to Sierra Madre in 1927 and attended Woodrow Wilson Junior High School and P.J.C. before entering Los Angeles Osteopathic College where he received his training. He is an osteopath, physician and surgeon, took his internship at the Wilshire Hospital and maintains offices in Los Angeles, as well as in Sierra Madre.

Father Sage Says:

A man doesn't realize how much credit he has until his children grow up and start charging things to him.

Morgridge-Mills Concert Saturday At Wistaria Fete

Elizabeth Morgridge Mills, well-loved violinist, and native daughter, returns to Sierra Madre, Saturday to give a duet concert with her composer-husband, Harlow Mills. Their program begins at 8:15 and is the last of a group of Spring concerts presented under the management of Mrs. Morris Geggie.

Mrs. Mills reports that she has just won the National Federation of music clubs biennial competition for young artists in the violin field. This is a step in a series of contests to be held on the Pacific Coast.

The first half of the Mills' program will present Brahms' Sonata for Violin and Piano in D Minor, and the Brazilian group of the modern composer, Milhaud. The last half of the program will feature the Rumanian and Hungarian music. This program has been given in over sixty cities by request, and was again requested here.

Lady Of Belmont Is Next At Playhouse

To Belmont and ten years after the celebrated trial moves the story of Shylock, Portia and the others in St. John Ervine's famous drama "The Lady of Belmont," sequel to "The Merchant of Venice," which comes to Pasadena Community Playhouse for one week only, Monday through Saturday, April 7-12. Seldom staged is the offering which brings a broken Shylock to Belmont where Portia and the others are celebrating the tenth anniversary of the trial. And in a style benefitting its sequel-like conclusion to Shakespeare's story does the St. John Ervine drama progress.

Two Hurt As Driver Avoids Hitting Dog On The Street

An early morning accident which caused considerable excitement on E. Grand View avenue, occurred Sunday at the intersection of Acacia avenue, when James Gingerich of 31 Suffolk avenue, swerved his car to avoid hitting a dog, and turned over. Neither Gingerich or his companion, Sylvia Colbert, was seriously injured, although Gingerich's Hudson sedan was badly damaged.

Perform Operation On Jockey's Jaw

Wally Gruber, jockey brother of George and Fred Gruber of Sierra Madre, injured two weeks ago when he was thrown from his horse and trampled at the Agua Caliente race track underwent major surgery at the Mercy Hospital at San Diego Tuesday morning. Surgery had been postponed until x rays revealed that no injury to the brain had resulted from a severe basal skull fracture.

According to relatives of the injured jockey, he will remain at the hospital another six weeks and then return to his home in Chicago until he has entirely recovered.

Paintings Of Noted Woman Artist At Wistaria Gardens

The charm of Mexican village life is well reflected in the oil paintings of Mabel E. Burnett, currently on exhibit at the Wistaria Vine's Little Gallery.

Mrs. Burnette, now a resident of Pasadena, is a member of the California Art Club, Women Painters of the West and the La Jolla Art Ass'n. Most of the canvasses being shown here during a recent trip into Mexico and include village folk scenes as well as panoramas of grandeur.

To Inspect Site Of Proposed Hostel In Nearby Canyon

As a result of the widespread interest shown in the establishment of a Youth Hostel in the neighborhood of Sierra Madre, Mrs. Robert Young, chairman of the local committee sponsoring the plan, has invited all interested townspeople as well as citizens from neighboring communities to attend a meeting and weiner bake which will be held Sunday afternoon at Camp Bon Accord in the Santa Anita Canyon.

Bon Accord is located on government property on the trail to Fern Lodge, and for some time has been operated by Mrs. Anna Johnson, for girls' groups. It is now being considered as the site for the Youth Hostel.

The meeting will begin at 4 o'clock and supper will be served at 5. There will be a nominal charge to cover expenses. Those interested in attending are asked to contact either Mrs. Young or Mrs. Francis Dane.

Nothing gives one person so much advantage over another as to remain always cool and unruffled under all circumstances.

—Thomas Jefferson.

What's Going On At The Grammar School

AS TOLD BY THE PUPIL-REPORTERS

Miss Moote's Class: Some of the children in the 5th grade are helping to identify wild flowers that children have brought to school from trips over the weekend or from fields that they see on their way to school. Some of the flowers are: deerweed, lupine, brodiaea, wild conterbury bell, Indian paint brush, bird's eye gilia, wild heliotrope, fieldie neck, California poppy, etc. We have had fun in doing it and plan to keep on. We use wild flower books and some pressed flower Mrs. Wheeler loaned to us, to identify the wild flowers. — Paul Iffrid, 5A.

Mr. McLaughlin's 7A-7B Room: The school band will play in assembly this Thursday at 1 o'clock. This will be the first time they have played in public. The band was started with 22 members and now has 30. Also at assembly, the Girl's Glee Club will sing. Mr. McLaughlin directs both the groups. Parents are invited to come. The school orchestra now has 50 members. Thirty-six of these members have not played before this year. The orchestra has made assemblies a lot better and more interesting. It's really something to be proud of. — Jack Champlin.

Mr. Larsen's Room: Fred Krinke is working on the building of airplanes for National Defense. He has made a model airplane factory with many model airplanes being manufactured. Fred has collected parts of a plane to be mounted on a display with some notes on the parts. He and Jack Hitchcock are making a defense map showing the location of the army airfields and the major airplane manufacturing plants. — Louie Williams.

HAD BUSY WEEKEND

Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Parker of 31 East Highland avenue were busy people over the weekend. Saturday afternoon and evening, they entertained a group of friends from out of town with a sightseeing tour of the interesting places in Sierra Madre, among them the Baldwin estate and the Wistaria Vine. On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Parker, accompanied by their guests, went ice skating in Pasadena and were among those present at the Vine to hear Bjornjolf Bjorset speak on Scandinavia.

The... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

LISTENING to Fred LaLone— and never missed a word, either—as he told us of one of his oddest hunting trips; yet thinking of other things—things his story suggested yet which were far away—in time, in space, and, as you might say, in substance. Fred telling about how he and his brother Ed, and Art Embree and Collin Hill, once sought for and brought back a certain "wild running buck"—a buck almost ghostly, such strange tales had been told about it. The buck turned out to be like that, all right—the strangest ever. And beautiful. Which was why, even as we listened, we kept thinking of other things.

OF Dr. Max Nordau, for example, over in that old Paris now almost as ghostly as Fred's buck—killed by a different breed of hunters, that Paris. Dr. Nordau, who wrote a best seller some fifty years ago, about "Genius and Degeneration." Incidentally, the name, Nordau, merely a reversal of the good doctor's real name, which was Sudfeldt; both Germanic, one meaning "North Field," and the other, "South Field." He'd taken the more French-sounding name when he'd decided to drop his Teutonic allegiance and become a Frenchman—remaining, however, just the simple, kindly family-doctor even after he was famous with a homely sort of second-class apartment up there in Montmartre not far from the Moulin Rouge. Thinking of him because, well, this buck of Fred's was somewhat in the doctor's line—of "Genius and Degeneration."

FRED told how he and his party headed out to look for this almost mythical buck. Saugus, Mint Canyon, the Mojave, Red Rock Canyon, all in the blazing blue splendor of early October; and so on into the Owens Valley toward where Mt. Whitney shoulders the sky. Here the party veered to the left for the wild country over Walker Pass and into Jawbone Canyon, there at the heart of the Piute Range. Where they found a weird old hermit, himself Piute. Who, after certain mollifications, came out of what seemed to have been some age-old and oathbound silence. "You come lookum devildeer," he said, smacking his lips. And they said, "Yes, yes." Whereupon the Piute began to give them some badly needed information.

PERSONALLY—or at least, ordinarily—we don't care for hunting-stories. O.K., you understand; this isn't a kick. We recognize the necessity for a lot of things we don't care for; or, at least, their attractiveness—to certain natures; like shooting doves, riding to hounds, taking orders from anyone but Uncle Sam. Howsoever! Our old friend Fred LaLone—who else?—and his brother Edward went out the next day and got the buck. (It was really Ed, says Fred, who did the shooting.) "The most terrible looking animal you ever saw," according to Fred. And the head of it, for proof, now adorns the LaLone front room; a head without normal antlers but crowned with a mass of cactus-like burrs—255 of them, equally divided, like short gnarled, lichen-covered branches.

THE result, Fred explains, of a glandular disorder in the animal—one that upset its sexual balance—made it all abnormal; an abnormality that Max Nordau would have related to his theories of degeneracy and genius. So that perhaps—who knows?—here was a deer genius. Gifted with a brain beyond all other deer, according to that old Piute. Able to run far and magnificently—ask Fred!—even when almost shot to pieces with explosive bullets. This at the close of a long career—a life that had become as if charmed and a legend. It was as gray, says Fred, as the desert; and massive, yet graceful as a doe. Splendid, glamorous, yet shunning other deer and shunned by them. So like many a human misfit—genius, a degenerate, or not! And God pity us all!

TALKING to another friend—about this and other things. Plugging away still at that old riddle of the Wherefor of Pain. Which our friend maintains is no riddle at all, but the essence of Creation. Thus, the War. He says the War—all wars—are an aberrant. They grind off the roughness and the non-essential. Thus with the wars eternal going on within the hearts and minds not only of men and women but of everything that is, from rock to tree and tree to animal and animal to man. And, from man back to God again!—whence all things came. "Not that the Beginning and the End are the same," says our friend. "For the Beginning was Chaos; the End, Creation." He quoted Pope's: "All are but parts of one stupendous whole—Whose body Nature is" (all Nature) "and God the soul." He said: "Let the buck die. It will live again."

Home is the dearest spot on earth, and it should be the centre—though not the boundary, of the affections.—Mary Baker Eddy

MARCH OF RIMES

By H. F. NOAKE

BIRDS

Hello there mister robin, thrice welcome to our tree; just help yourself to any limb, it's quite all right with me. Seems ages since you perched up there and sang a cheerful song; can't understand the reason why you stayed away so long. In such sad times there's urgent need for robins in the trees to sort of give us folks a lift with your quaint melodies. Right now the world is in a mess, and singing's seldom heard, that's why we all are mighty glad, for once, to get the bird. It's surprising mister robin what little things can do, in fact our lives are made worthwhile by little things—like you. So warble to your heart's content, your message, let it ring; in order that the world may know the birds, thank God, still sing.

Legislative Comment

By T. FENTON KNIGHT

Assemblyman 48th District

It is now quite evident that this session of the legislature will not be the short one that was so freely forecast. The Governor's budget still languishes in the hands of the committee in charge of that committee promised to have the bill out on the floor a full two weeks ago. A number of bills now on the calendar, calling for a direct or implied appropriation, are being held up for final discussion because they cannot be considered until after the passage of the budget bill.

While some of the more optimistic members predicted a month ago that it might be possible to conclude the session by May 1st, that date has now been advanced to the first of June while others frankly admit that a few controversial measures can easily extend that date by three or four weeks. So far but few controversial bills have been brought out of committee but an unexpected liberal labor and capital committee on the Assembly side of the house promises plenty of material for a number of heated arguments.

The bill providing for return of unemployment relief to the respective counties, which has already been passed by the Senate, changes its complexion so fast by amendments adopted at practically every committee meeting that it is extremely difficult to forecast at this time just what form it will take when presented for

Public Invited To Wild Lilac Display On Dr. Lux Estate

So that Sierra Madreans may have an opportunity to enjoy the many beautiful varieties of California wild lilac now blooming on his estate, Clover Crest, Dr. G. P. Lux announces that he will welcome all visitors from this neighborhood Saturday and Sunday.

Almost every specimen of the ceanothus, form the delicate pure white type to the deep blue which is native to San Diego county, are now in bloom and are expected to be at their best during this weekend.

To reach Clover Crest, motorists are instructed to turn north on Alta Vista street, Monrovia, on Foothill blvd., and continue up through Clover Leaf Canyon. Visitors to the estate will be treated to one of the most beautiful spring sights in Southern California and will also have an opportunity to see how excellently native plants adapt themselves to hillside gardens.

Mr. Richard J. Davis, C.S.B., of San Jose, California, a member of the Board of Lecturers of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, spoke last Friday evening at the school auditorium on the subject "Christian Science: God's Law Revealed in Spiritual Healing." Mr. Davis was introduced by Mrs. Besse Palmer Rhodes, Second Reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Sierra Madre—under the auspices of which the lecture was given. The lecturer spoke as follows:

It is probable that if human life had unfolded for us a complete measure of happiness, peace, success, prosperity, and health, if we had known the gratification of every desire and ambition, and if human existence had proved altogether satisfactory, we might not have felt the incentive which has brought us together tonight. But such indeed is not the case. The prophet Jeremiah well described the situation of most people when he said, "We looked for peace, but no good came; and for a time of health, and behold trouble!" And then he voiced what is also the cry of humanity today, confronted as it is with every conceivable difficulty and problem requiring healing: "Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?"

To those of earth, bound with sickness, oppressed with sin, fearful with poverty, or weighed down by unhappiness, Christian Science brings the joyous message that there is balm in Gilead—that there is a healing answer for humanity's ills. If this balm were nothing more than an optimistic statement of good cheer, it certainly would not heal the hurt of mankind nor prove a real physician, and there would be little reason for a hope within us. For seventy years or more, however, the divine Principle of spiritual healing, discovered in 1866 by Mary Baker Eddy, has been successfully applied to alleviate and destroy every conceivable ill that "flesh is heir to." It is proving its usefulness and availability for an ever-increasing body of people. It is its healing work which sets Christian Science apart from other churches or denominations, and it is the healing fruitage of Christian Science which makes it worthy of your thoughtful attention tonight.

As one comes to understand more about this healing, however, it is realized that the healing activity of this Science of the Christ is far broader in its application than has usually been supposed, for it touches not only sick bodies, but sick hearts as well. Character, family relationships, business, education, and government come within the range of its healing and redemptive function, since, as Mrs. Eddy expressed it in her book, "Rudimentary Divine Science" (p. 2): "Healing physical sickness is the smallest part of Christian Science. It is only the bugle-call to thought and action, in the higher range of infinite goodness." The fundamental purpose of healing, therefore, is not to make human beings more comfortable in materiality by disposing of their physical and financial ailments, but to bring about as the expression of the Christ must always do, the healing of sin and the entire regeneration of the human race.

From the very inception of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy perceived that true spiritual healing could be brought about more widely only as men and women became spiritually minded, as they approximated in a measure the mind or consciousness of Christ Jesus. She saw that it was what the Master Christian knew or understood of divine law that enabled him to do the works which he performed, and from the beginning of her great work for mankind, she constantly emphasized to her followers the necessity for growth in Christian character, as a living exemplification of the purity, honesty, compassion, and love which made the life of Jesus forever outstanding and his healing mission gloriously successful.

MRS. EDDY'S CHARACTER
Those who knew Mrs. Eddy best will tell you that she was always a consistent and humble follower of Christ, that she endeavored to conform her life and thinking to the pattern shown on the mount, and that the healings, many of them instantaneous, by which she personally demonstrated the Principle of Christian Science, were wrought at a result of her great spiritual vision and her inspired understanding of God and man. Mrs. Eddy was a humanitarian in the very highest sense of that word. She loved mankind—peoples of every race and creed—including even those who persecuted her. She had a sympathetic understanding of the frailty of human nature, realized and felt that it needed to be lovingly strengthened and compassionately sustained. She saw that the greatest sinner was the greatest victim, the one most imposed upon and handled by false concepts of what constitutes happiness. Therefore, the great purpose of her life, exemplified in her own living, was to uplift and heal humanity.

Today she occupies a unique position as the greatest religious teacher and reformer of this age. She is revered, honored, and loved by many thousands who have been healed and regenerated through her discovery. If one is honestly seeking healing in Christian Science, a natural prelude to that healing is a sympathetic understanding and loving appreciation of its Discoverer and Founder.

WHAT JESUS UNDERSTOOD

It is clear, therefore, that Christian Science is eminently Christian, because it radiates and exemplifies the whole and undivided spirit of the Christ. What was this spirit of the Christ which Jesus manifested and which was expressed in his mighty works? First of all, it must have been a correct concept or understanding of God, of what God really is, and of what man was not a man-like Deity, a divine entity somewhere in space, but rather the self-existent, spiritual and perfect cause or creator of the universe, and the teaching of Christian Science conforms to this definition, declaring God to be the one infinite divine Mind, or intelligent Principle of all being. In the Christian Science textbook (p. 587) Mrs. Eddy has defined God to be: "The great I AM; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise, all-loving, and eternal; Principle; Mind; and, Spirit; Life; Truth; Love; all substance; intelligence."

The God that Jesus knew and the God of Christian Science is absolutely perfect. The premise and basis of true spiritual healing is perfection. Christ Jesus understood that since God or Mind is the intelligent and perfect cause, man, his image or spiritual expression, must also be perfect and intelligent, since a divine spiritual cause must inevitably express itself in an equally spiritual and perfect effect. Man, therefore, is understood in Christian Science to be the full and complete likeness of infinite Mind, infinite Spirit, Life, and Love. Jesus clearly referred to this perfection of man when he said, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

That spiritual understanding of the perfection of all things which Jesus possessed, and which made him the Christ, was the Saviour of mankind then and is today. Mary of Magdala stooped down; she looked for a personal Saviour, whom she feared and believed had been taken away. But today the saving, spiritual idea is here, the palpitating presence of divine Love. No longer need it be said, "They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him." Nor is the Christ, Truth, buried in a sepulcher of materialism. The spiritual idea of God and His man is omnipresent, unconfined and unrestricted in its divine unfoldment and accomplishment.

When Jesus declared his forever unity with God in the words, "I and my Father are one," he declared it not only for himself but for all men. He asserted a spiritual fact—that God and man, Mind and its idea, could never by any possibility be separated. Christ Jesus achieved a complete understanding and demonstration of absolute love, divine Love. We, too, shall eventually attain this understanding, not through any hypermetaphysical attitude which ignores human conditions as they seem to be and attempts to describe Love in terms of intellect, but rather through that genuine spiritual perception and those humane and compassionate impulses which warm the heart of mankind and give evidence of Love in something more than beautiful thoughts. In recognition of this necessity Mrs. Eddy has written in her textbook (p. 25), "The divinity of the Christ was made manifest in the humanity of Jesus."

SOLE RELIANCE ON GOD

It is sometimes objected to Christian Science that its teachings are narrow, especially in relation to the method or rules by which healing is to be accomplished. This, in a certain sense, is perfectly true, because, being a Science, it is based upon demonstrable rule and understanding, which in order to be proved must be correctly applied. Jesus, who realized the tendency of mortals to look for easy, short-cut approaches, declared that the way which leadeth to eternal life is straight and narrow. Scientific thinking is always narrow in the sense that it must be exactly and definitely applied. The science of mathematics is extremely narrow, and no correct chemical result would ever be attained without proper adherence to the rules laid down in chemistry. I speak of this because it is only proper to point out both the right and wrong way to bring about healing. Christian Science healing rests, as did that of Jesus, on sole and undivided reliance upon spiritual power. It attributes all power to God, and no power whatever to evil or disease. It is well for anyone seeking help and healing in Christian Science to hark back just where his reliance and dependence are placed. For success in healing we cannot look both to Spirit and matter. James, recognizing this temptation, said, "He that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed," and he added, "A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways." Christian Scientists would not for one moment question the right of anyone to seek healing by whatever method his conscience dictates, but it is obvious that if one desires healing from God, God should be accorded the faith and radical reliance which is His due. Jesus pointed out the fallacy of trying to serve two masters. There is no evidence that God made medicine any more than He brought about disease, and material medicine, hygiene, and other human healing systems can not properly be combined with Christian Science even if the attempt is made to do this.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TREATMENT, OR PRAYER

Jesus healed the sick and raised the dead, not merely because he believed in God and had a deep faith that in some mysterious way Spirit would bring about miracles, but because he scientifically knew that the law of God is always operating and is instantaneously available. Christian Science treatment, or prayer, no matter how simply it may be expressed, is never mere belief in God. It is always knowing—knowing the Truth—which brings the desired result. Spiritual conviction and scientific knowing are the God-qualities which make every healing prayer, or treatment, effective. When we know the ever-presence, the omnipotence of divine Love, then in the words of the Bible we can truly say, "I know that my redeemer liveth."

In healing the sick or disposing of any other afflictive condition, the prayer, or treatment of Christian Science, is not an attempt to destroy or displace realities. For, logically, if disease and every other unpleasant and evil situation is real, a fixity, by what conceivable mental process could it be destroyed? Whatever is true remains true, has permanent entity. But Christian Science simply dissipates false beliefs—always beliefs. Through perception of Truth we are saving ourselves and others from evil beliefs, delusions, about what is and really exists. We are not saved from the world, but from an evil belief about the world, and what is going on in what seems to be our world. Christian Science treatment is simply establishing as truth what is, and always has been, the perfection of God's infinite Being.

THE HEALING OF PREJUDICE

Let us consider for a moment the quality of thinking we call prejudice. How it closes the doors to unrecognized blessings, shutting one out from a beautiful healing manifestation! What is prejudice? Is it not prejudgment—judgment rendered on a subject before the facts are fully understood? Prejudgment of Christian Science inevitably results in prejudice. It is safe to say that nine out of ten people who entertain a false concept of Christian Science have permitted themselves to prejudice it. That is, they have accepted beliefs or concepts as to its teachings, without so much as looking into its textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the only authoritative statement on the subject. What estimate of me do you think an intelligent professor of mathematics would have, were he to contest with him on certain mathematical points, if I were to scoff at his ideas and endeavor to prove his statements incorrect, when I had not even examined, much less studied, a book on the subject under discussion? What would be your estimate of me? I have a feeling that you would consider me extremely ignorant and ridiculous, no matter how great my own claims to intellectual and mental superiority might be. Now, my friends, that is exactly the position in which people place themselves, when they undertake to tell the world what Christian Science teaches, through their acquaintance with this Science being limited only to antagonistic books on the subject or to a brief perusal of our literature.

Prejudgment of our brother is judgment of his life, his motives and conduct, without adequate acquaintance with all the facts that govern. Who of us wants to be judged on that basis? Christian Science enables us to subdue the impulse to prejudice a situation when it arises, to stop and say to ourselves: "Now see here, what do I really know about this case? Do I really know all the facts? Am I fully cognizant of this man's thoughts, his life, and his motives? And am I worthy of judging this man and his acts?" If we followed this course, few of us would or could go very far in the unworthy business of prejudging.

The Master, recognizing how very frequent is the tendency to criticize and prejudice, and understanding how these habits must be corrected in order to heal oneself and others, had much to say about judging and condemning. Christian Science teaches us that in order to be every whit whole we must be just and fair and, above all, compassionate. Is not righteous judgment that merciful estimate of man and all humanity which recognizes the frailty of human nature and its weaknesses? Is it not a recognition of the unseen struggles of the human heart, its wrestling perplexity and despair? And does not righteous judgment separate all evil and sin from man and see evil's impersonal nature and absolute nothingness? Jesus' great love did not permit him to ignore evil and sin, but it did enable him to impersonalize it, separate it from man, and thereby to judge righteously. This same method of thinking enables us, particularly when we have been misjudged, misused, or vilified, to lift our thought above the disturbing elements of personality, and maintain a spiritual poise and peace that passeth human understanding. Prejudgment is only the judgment of ignorance and therefore does not harm, unless we permit it to do so. It cannot disturb the serenity of him who knows that Principle governs all men.

The understanding and love which looks for the good and denies the evil in one's fellow man, leads us eventually to the place where, like Christ Jesus, we are conscious of perfection instead of imperfection. A man may be quite exemplary in conduct, and yet if sin or evil in his neighbor appears as very real, if his neighbor is regarded as unworthy, as wicked and damned, can it be said that he himself is blameless? A mole, yes, a beam, his lodged in his own eye, an impediment to his vision about his neighbor. Often, as we go about the mesmerism of mortal mind tries to force its evil pictures upon us. Yet think, my friends, what a healing privilege is ours, when the lame, the sick, the sorrowful, and the sinning come to us for help, to silently and prayerfully declare, "Hail, son of God! Hail, the perfect child of a perfect Father!"

LOVE KNOWS NO ENEMIES

It is possible that there may be someone in this audience who believes that he is suffering or has suffered because of enemies. One of the blessed things which Christian Science does is to free us from our enemies, or correctly speaking, to heal us of our belief in enemies. We have usually thought of enemies as persons, external or apart from ourselves. But Jesus said that man's foes were those of his own household, meaning his mental household or consciousness. It is not true that you have to think of an enemy and mentally visualize him before you can have one. In order to have enemies one must necessarily entertain a belief in haters. One must accept hate and malice as reality into his own consciousness. Mrs. Eddy, in her inspired article, "Love Your Enemies" (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 8), asks: "What thing enemy that thou shouldst love him? Is it a creature or a thing outside thine own creation? . . . Simply count your enemy to be that which defiles, deceives, and degrades the Christ-image that you should reflect."

At the very time when mortal thinking was declaring that Christ Jesus was the victim of hate and malice we find him saying, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do." This was the conscious refusal on his part to believe in the reality of enemies. Detaching and separating evil from his concept of God and man, Jesus held without wavering to the perfection of Being. His illumined spiritual sense saw no enemies and knew none. Then may not we, in like manner, refuse to entertain enemy concepts, hostile tendencies, mental pictures, pictures of men capable of hating or injuring, of men endowed with the motive or power to do wrong?

If there remains in thought the mental picture of an evil man, our vision of perfection is marred. Since Jesus saw perfection, so must we. Enemies and the fear of enemies disappear in the face of the consciousness which knows only the infinity of Love.

TRUTH NO RESPECTER OF PERSONS

A question that frequently arises and is often voiced by young students or beginners is this: "Since Christian Science is a science, and actually the Science of infinite Mind, how can I be expected to demonstrate it with my little understanding? I must study it for many years before I can prove it. I have such a slight grasp of the subject. In fact, I know I am not good enough. I can't heal myself or anyone else." This lying suggestion would, if it could, thwart and retard the progress of every seeker for spiritual light. If accepted, it would keep everyone in a state of perpetual denial of his understanding of the Christ and his ability to demonstrate it. How would anyone be able to sing, if fear and self-depreciation prevented his uttering a note or expressing a tone? Children in school are always encouraged to use their unfolding understanding of numbers, and having demonstrated some measure of success in a simple way they confidently move on to higher accomplishment in mathematics. Christian Science shows us, too, that it is always the personal power that heals, but always the personal Christ, Truth, no matter how simply expressed. Spiritual understanding is no respecter of persons. It does not concern itself with family, background, environment, education or the lack of it. Spiritual understanding is the open fount that cries, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters." Spiritual understanding, when claimed, may be demonstrated by the humblest or most mighty of men. No matter where one may be, right there, where the understanding of God and man find him, there does it begin to operate and express itself in healing.

Several years ago while on a lecture tour in England, I met and talked with a young man who had just left prison on parole. The experience he told me I have verified. During the war he sustained an injury from a running wound which in many years had never healed, but gradually grew worse. A year or two ago he was committed to prison. The physical condition had become so bad by that time that the doctors declared his leg would have to be amputated. At this point in his experience, Christian Science was brought to his attention and he was given a copy of "Science and Health." His acceptance of the truth was so immediate and eager that in four days the wound was healed and he was discharged from the prison hospital as a patient, but continued to remain in the ward as a prison employee. He was healed solely through the reading of Science and Health. Shortly after this, a mother came to the hospital to see her son, also a prisoner, who was seriously ill with spinal meningitis. This beginner in Christian Science interested her in the subject and within a week or two healed her son. In the same ward he found an elderly man suffering with a poisoned condition of the appendix, and immediately healed him. All of this, including his own moral redemption and physical healing, took place within ten months. Now my friends, in the face of such an experience as this, who would say that there are times, places, or conditions under which the law of divine Love will not operate? Who is there so unworthy, so much a sinner, that he may not immediately begin to prove and demonstrate his divine oneness through the utilization of what he knows of Christian Science? "Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ." From the moment that good, purity, and honesty begin to function in consciousness and to govern, at that very moment spiritual salvation has become operative.

SELF-EXAMINATION

When we become interested in Christian Science sufficiently to be students and to read and apply what we know, it is discovered that nothing either good or bad happens to us or to those about us, merely by chance, but that there is always some mental causation, particularly as it applies to one's own thinking. Self-examination is a necessary step in healing, and Mrs. Eddy has indicated this very definitely in Science and Health (p. 462), where she writes: "Anatomy, when conceived of spiritually, is mental self-knowledge, and consists in the dissection of thoughts to discover their quality, quantity, and origin. . . . This branch of study is indispensable to the exclusion of error. The anatomy of Christian Science teaches when and how to probe the self-inflicted wounds of selfishness, malice, envy, and hate."

This introspective study sometimes results in discoveries so astonishing and shocking that the student may possibly be a bit discouraged and depressed, unless he sees that the error, which has come to light in his own thinking, has appeared only to disappear, its native nothingness, because he is no longer attaching to it himself, nor permitting it to use him. A lady once told me that she was a very fine pianist and that she was quite amazed and disturbed to find that she had all her life believed in, and depended very much on, the power of money and really loved it. Another, a man with whom I am acquainted, discovered that he had an inordinate appetite for food, and that he loved the material pleasures of the table.

Many unworthy beliefs come to the surface when one is really desirous of dispensing with them, and all of this has a direct bearing on healing and spiritual progress. We find in Christian Science that this kind of house cleaning is vastly helpful. When I was a boy we used to have an attic, in which went all useless and antiquated furniture, worn-out clothing, old shoes, and a hundred memories of bygone days, musty and dusty, and of no real value except to keep alive a vanished past. There they lay until the time arrived to clean and tidy up the attic, and that was indeed an occasion.

By using Christian Science in our mental housekeeping, we can do away with the attics entirely. As we get rid of all the old, outgrown concepts and musty abandoned beliefs of the past, there will be nothing useless to store away. Indeed our "regular clean-up week" must be a continuous performance. We must sweep out all the dark corners of fear, destruction, and brush out their evil, and clean our mental windowpanes, so that, in a disturbed and unhappy world, spiritual light, expressed in cheerful and joyous thoughts, may shine through to bless all mankind.

LISTENING
The ability to listen is something which every right thinker should cultivate, because unless one listens how can he be sure that he is receiving or hearing the ideas or thoughts of divine Mind whose loving function is to liberate and heal? Attention, alertness, and receptivity are some of the qualities that characterize a good listener, and we all know that sometimes human beings regarded as great talkers are not such good listeners. In fact, it is sometimes said, "Why, he hears only the sound of his own voice." It is also true that the thoughts of the great talker seldom have the weight and value of the thoughts of the good listener. Mrs. Eddy has written in "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 339), "If people would confine their talk to subjects that are profitable, that which St. John informs us took place once in heaven, would happen very frequently on earth. . . . Silence for the space of half an hour."

Christian Science, therefore, teaches us the value of silence and of quiet meditation, and every student recognizes the necessity of taking time each day to listen for the voice of God, to shut the door on the clamor and confusion of mortal thinking and to commune with infinite Spirit, thereby letting the ideas of Spirit utter themselves in our consciousness. Every spiritual leader and teacher mentioned in the Bible was a good listener, and there are frequent references to the times when Christ Jesus went into the wilderness to pray, meditate, and listen. Several times each day, Mrs. Eddy was accustomed to retire from contact with other people and silently commune with God, always seeking further spiritual light and inspiration. Recognizing the need that everyone has for these times of quiet thought and study, she established the Christian Science Reading Rooms which are conducted by all the churches in every part of the civilized world. Silence is a rule in these rooms, and there one may see, particularly in the busy hours of the day, many people reading, praying, and listening. In the turmoil and discord which often seem to surround us it is not always easy to find that quietude which brings the realization of Love's omnipresence. Only as the testis shut out can the voice of God be heard.

During the war, in the front line trenches, it was the custom to establish "listening posts," special points where a keen and alert soldier, equipped with certain mechanical devices, was stationed to watch and detect, through listening, the approach or activity of the enemy. We should all of us establish listening posts, so that we may be not only receptive and attentive to the unfoldment of Mind's ideas, but also that we may detect the presence or approach of the enemy, the false beliefs of disease, fear, and sin which would take us prisoner.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALS INCOMPETENCE

In Christian Science the human equation is never ignored. Indeed, the absolute Truth, the divine facts of Being, may always be applied to what appears in human conditions. When we realize that man, being the likeness of God, Mind, is the reflection of infinite wisdom, intelligence, and perspicacity, the understanding should make us do the wisest human thing, and take the most intelligent human footsteps. If he made no actual efforts to secure his orders, no salesman would prove very successful, however earnest he might be in his study of Christian Science. The application of right thinking expresses itself in alertness, keenness, spontaneity, and other mental qualities which will greatly aid any man in business.

Poverty is really the expression of impoverished thinking, whereas true wealth is abundant thinking. Even in a human way, we say of a clever and capable man, "He is a man of ideas," meaning that he is a success, because he is so alert, so expressive, so intelligent, and progressive business concepts. A man with ideas can never lack, because he possesses enriching thoughts. And, of course, when the divinely mental nature of God's man is recognized and claimed, we see that there is no one who is not a "man of ideas" since ideas or thoughts constitute his entire entity or being, as the infinite idea forever developing and unfolding more of the might and glory of infinite Mind.

What we call a job is really the opportunity which is given man to express right ideas, and the more ideas he expresses the more competent he is in the job. It is one thing to secure a job or position, and quite another to demonstrate the competence or ability to fill it. Now incompetence is a belief that capable and constructive ideas are lacking in our mental make-up, yet this is not true of God's man. Christian Science enables us to eliminate the beliefs of incapacity, carelessness, indolence, or apathy, and replace them with qualities of industry, exactness, and accuracy, and we have to be humble enough to see that sometimes our greatest need is more demonstrated ability. We can be grateful, however, that ability is not something which is unequally divided among God's children, but that, being infinite, there is no limit to its expression and evidence, and that it belongs to all of us right now, in unlimited measure. There is no law of partiality in God's universe.

Centuries ago people had their business problems, and one of the early Christians is said to have written, "A righteous man thinketh that which is righteous, and whilst he does so, and walketh uprightly, he shall have the Lord in heaven favorable unto him in all his business." To have the law of God favorable to us in our business life is something greatly to be desired, but obviously it cannot be achieved until men see the natural value of eliminating from business practice qualities and habits of thinking that are unlike God.

WHAT BLESSES ONE BLESSSES ALL

A year or so ago, in a western city, a gentleman whom I met told me the following experience. He had a typewriter business which had declined to the point of not being much of a business at all. My friend, in his discouragement, turned to Christian Science for help. He went to a practitioner, related all the details of his failing enterprise, and ended by asking the practitioner to work in Christian Science so that the business could be sold. "The business isn't any good, and I want to get rid of it," "Oh, that's it," said the practitioner. "The business is no good, and because it is no good you want Christian Science to help you load it off on someone else? Now, do you suppose that is the way Christian Science works? Do you suppose the law of God is going to operate in helping you to dump a business, which you say is no good, off on your brother man? Do you think that is honest practice?" "Well," said the man, "I hadn't thought of it in that light." "No," replied the practitioner, "but that is what you were trying to do, and of course Christian Science treatment does not operate in that way. It has got to bless both him who buys and him who sells. Now suppose you go back and make your business worth selling. Suppose you put into it all the love, energy, and capability that you can, and we will know together that God is governing it. Then let us see how things work out." The man began to put the right mental qualities into his business, his fear disappeared, the orders began to come in, and in a short time he had a successful business, which of course he did not sell.

BUSINESS PRACTICE NEEDS HEALING

The experiences of the last few years have uncovered startling weaknesses in the structure and conduct of our national business life, and the time has come for us to recognize that industry, banking, or any other branch of business, no matter how great and impressive may be its appearance, simply cannot stand if it be not founded on the basis of Principle, if it has not the qualities of honesty, justice, and love in its foundation. Someone may ask, "What have honesty, justice, and love to do with business?" Just this: You cannot have a business without thought or mind. Honesty, justice, and love are mental qualities, and they have the constituents that make for stability, permanence, and harmony; whereas dishonesty, injustice, self-interest, or hate, if they are the mental qualities motivating business, hold within themselves the seeds of their own inevitable failure and decay.

The understanding of Christian Science reveals the root cause of all dishonesty, greed, and unscrupulous competition is always fear, and fear is ignorance of God and of man's eternal and right relationship to Him. When the nature of God is perceived as the infinite All, when it is seen that infinite substance, infinite opportunity, and infinite Love are the unescapable and inevitable heritage of man, and every man, then the business clear how causeless and needless is the fearful and frantic struggle to gain money, place, or success, at the expense of someone else who seems to be in the way. There is enough of Life, enough of substance, enough of Love, enough of good for all, for God is All-in-All—more than any finite sense has ever imagined Him to be.

HEALING OF THE NATIONS

In these days, when the nations of earth seem to be in such a state of confusion and upheaval, when we find radical and impractical concepts of government being advanced, no one can deny that what might be called the body politic is in as great need of healing as the body we call human. We are hearing many theories of government propounded and witnessing, and taking part in, some of the experiments; but true government, as we understand it in Christian Science, is not a theory and is not dependent on experiments. The government of God is a divine fact, and is always and forever established. The need of humanity today is expressed in the words of the Psalmist: "All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee. For the kingdom is the Lord's; and he is the governor among the nations." If every ruler, every person, entrusted with government, yes, every citizen, knew this, and placed the responsibility for government where it belongs, with the one God, and knew that God is governing His universe, including man, harmoniously, this thinking would inevitably make for universal peace on earth.

The world picture, as it appears to the human senses, would try to make us believe that we are living in a modern Babel—a confused and discordant clamor of many minds, many tongues, races, and divergent concepts of government. But is this true? Christian Science declares that there is just one Mind, and that that one Mind is the mind of man, of all mankind. If this be so, can it be true that there is a different mind operating in England from that in America? Is the Mind that governs Germany different from the one that governs France?

What we call government is of course a basic fact. A human government or nation is the expression of the aggregate thought of the people. It is no better and no worse than their thinking makes it. Government, therefore, has its beginning in the consciousness of the individual citizen, and Christian Science shows us that the law of healing is brought to bear upon what we call government, as we heal ourselves and correct our own thinking on this subject. In line with this Mrs. Eddy has written in her textbook (Science and Health, p. 106): "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love." How clear it is that if everyone rightly controlled and governed his own thinking, and made himself responsible for the discipline of his own thoughts, no external police force or regulation would be required. Correct self-government on the part of all men, individually, would then inevitably express itself, in the most ideal concept of government, as we correct our own thinking.

The kind of government that all right-minded people desire and long for, for the world over, is one embodying the elements of justice, honesty, and morality—a government that wisely and lovingly considers the interests of all, and accords equality of opportunity to every man. This ideal of government must be perceived and maintained in thought, before it can be realized, and it is that which is maintained, and externalized in visible form.

It is the privilege of a thinker, and God has endowed every one of us with that precious power to think, never to use thought unworthily. It is therefore the duty of a good citizen never to think thoughts which will do less than contribute to the good of the whole nation. This means that we should never give hospitality to thoughts of fear, panic, or dishonesty; thoughts expressing social injustice, lawlessness, or civic indifference.

The way of healing is the way of one Mind, one God, one government. Christian Science points this out, as the only solution to the discord and warring of the nations. If the civilization of today is to be saved, then each one of us must think from the standpoint of one God and the

unification of nations, which Mrs. Eddy so wonderfully outlines in Science and Health.

The revered Leader of Christian Science was a sincere follower of peace, and in her reflection of the motherhood and fatherhood of God she tenderly loved and considered all peoples of the earth, regardless of race or creed. She recognized that in Christian Science she had given to the world a spiritual teaching which, if followed, would heal individuals and nations alike, and banish war and hate forever from the earth.

In an article she wrote for the Boston Globe entitled, "How Strife may be Stilled" (Miscellany, p. 278), she says: "The First Commandment in the Hebrew Decalogue — 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me' — obeyed, is sufficient to still all strife. God is the divine Mind. Hence the sequence: Had all peoples one Mind, peace would reign. 'God is Father, infinite and this great truth, when understood in its divine metaphysics, will establish the brotherhood of man, end wars, and demonstrate 'On earth peace, good will toward men.'"

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

A lengthening list of expatriates and refugees—many leaders in their own lands—today are finding a haven in this complaint country that opens its arms to its severest critics.

Which reminds us that it's been some time since we've heard that famous foreign designation for Americans: "braassy upstarts." Some time since Lord Highnose or Lady Loosetongue, or any member of the haughty salon literati, or even a caustic comonomer, made a very loud speech about the raucous, rangy individualism that is America; about our unholy lack of measured ceremony; our excessive speed and overabundant energy; our leavening interpretation of democracy.

It's some time since any old-world spokesman ridiculed the American way of life as compared with European manners and customs; our flash-in-the-pan career as a nation with the glorious history and venerable traditions of countries abroad.

Countries abroad, it seems, recently have found it tough going to measure up to those ancient and honorable sagas. In crisis, they've been falling flat on their faces amid a hoary heap of history books. One after another those proud old countries have crumbled and fallen bitterly apart at the first hint of national shock.

American traditions, on the other hand, and the American way of life, are standing up pretty well, everything considered.

A typical American phenomenon shows up in a Fortune survey recently concluded. The phenomenon of a hundred million Democrats and Republicans, who tangled not many months ago in as pretty a pitched battle as ever seen at Donnybrook, drawing political blood on every quarter. Then the bell rang and the national election was called. The dust settled and the world saw that 45 percent of the voters had voted against Roosevelt and 55 percent of the voters had elected him.

"Traditionally" in many lands, that would have meant a smashed cabinet, a pogrom or two, and a strong-arm neighbor marching in to take over. Here it meant a vociferous opposition party, which, as the world crisis closes in so even the average citizen can feel it, seeks to help, not to hinder, the strength and solidarity of the nation.

While the president's policies still aren't the answer to everyman's prayer, Americans note the times of stress and are slowly welding together in a reasonably support of the nation's head in coping with defense problems that stopped other countries cold. "United we stand," says the axiom in everybody's old copy-book; "divided we fall." That's tradition enough for an American.

No, this isn't the oldest civilization by a long shot. There are those that could spot us centuries and still leave us centuries to go. But the American code of behavior in crisis is honorable enough, it is ancient.

Is it beside the point to prophesy that generations from now, Americans will still be bragging much louder about their fast transportation, superior living accommodations and other bright, new things than about their history and traditions? And that Europeans probably will still be calling them "braassy upstarts."

As It Appears
To me

¶ After listening to "Dr. Yu Shan Han at the Church of the Ascension parish house Friday evening, we have an entirely new concept of Chinese ancestor worship, and for the first time can understand the great sustaining force of this ancient custom during a national crisis.

¶ As presented by Dr. Han this custom which has been so keenly scorned by the Occident loses much of its destructive character, and gains a new dignity. Violating the honor of the Chinese family appears to have been among the major errors of the Japanese imperialists, and may well be the supreme blunder which will eventually bring defeat to the oriental aggressors.

¶ It was good to hear Dr. Han declare with great sincerity that young Chinese men and women who have been educated in American universities are doing much to "hold China together today," and one gains renewed strength from hearing again words of the old Chinese sages who found music in silence, hope in suffering, and freedom through discipline and restraint.

¶ Dr. Han flew to Chungking recently and has first hand knowledge of conditions in that beleaguered city. He has experienced life in bomb shelters 40 feet underground, and in tunnels which have been driven 190 feet into mountain sides.

¶ His accounts of the Chinese reaction to the war are shot through with flashes of gay humor then heartbreaking mention of the plight of hundreds of girl soldiers now encamped west of Chungking.

¶ All in all we came away with the feeling that China is far from lost, and that she will again be a great democratic force in a peaceful world.

¶ This week our local community fund drive opens here, and everyone is going to be asked to help raise $1000 to sustain the activities of our youth groups. With everyone talking about national defense it seems well to remember that there is no more important step in that direction, than broadening our concept of the function of American youth, and no better place to take that step than in our own community.

—Margaret Nilsson.

One by-product of the rearmament program is certain to prove of enduring value to this nation. This is the rapid development of the synthetic rubber industry, a field in which California is already playing a part and is well fitted to play a far larger one. This State is now asking a subsidy from the $100 million RFC loan fund which is available for the development of synthetic rubber in the United States. The Salinas Valley today has more than 1000 acres planted to guayule rubber; the plant can be produced in many other sections of the State. Since the outbreak of war, American chemists have created many new types of synthetic rubber to fill the country's needs—it uses 600,000 tons of natural rubber yearly—if supplies from the Far East should be cut off. The synthetic product, it is worth noting, has all the advantages of the natural type as well as many special advantages of its own. When, and if, large-scale production begins, California should add one more industry to its roster of enterprises.

Maj. Gen. Kiofuku Okamoto, Japanese military attaché in Berlin, cheerfully announced one day last week "Japan and Germany are in the same boat!" If it's the same boat in which a triumphant Hitler planned to sail to Britain last summer its evident the partners missed it!

stalelated by a protracted strike, finally cracked the big whip the other day. In a sharp order to the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company of Milwaukee, Wis., the government directed both the company and its workers to resume production at once on vital defense orders. The strike at that plant was called on January 22, shutting down production on several million dollars worth of defense orders and throwing 7800 employees onto the idle list. In some disputes, there are doubtless just grievances on both sides, but the government and the general public have become impatient of settling those grievances the hard way, by hasty strike action and the stubborn refusal of either party to accept a solution. The big whip cracked by Uncle Sam last week is a warning that more stringent measures are in the offing unless the wheels of production are kept humming during settlement of disputes.

A look at the charts of industrial activity in the Far West shows all trend lines scampering upward. Lumber mills, aircraft plants, shipyards and construction work combined in February to break records which have stood since 1929. Even residential construction, in value of permits, exceeded by 23 per cent its record of a year ago. Definitely, the boom is on!

Japanese Foreign Minister Matsuoka on his visit to Berlin, where he was feted with great pomp and ceremony, left no doubt as to the ultimate aims of his country's policy. Rattling the well-worn sabre whose sound is now familiar to American ears, Matsuoka bluntly informed the world that America is the permanent enemy of Japan. What he and other Axis spokesmen apparently hope to achieve by brandishing their sabres in America's face is to frighten this nation into submission and inaction by playing upon the fear of war. This was the tactic successfully exploited by totalitarian powers in Europe to paralyze the will and determination of other nations — nations which forgot that while aggressive action may prevent war, passive action makes war, inevitable, unless they choose to surrender. That lesson is clear. Or will the skeptic prove correct who said the only lesson that history teaches us is that we learn nothing from it?

Cracking down on one of the most serious of the nation's bottlenecks, President Roosevelt has appointed an 11-man mediation board to deal with strikes in vital defense industries. The speed of America's rearmament progress has too often in recent months been abruptly checked for time-outs while labor disputants fought their costly battles. The creation of a Federal mediation board is a belated step in the right direction. Congress must now take the next step and by legislative action, calling for a compulsory cooling off period before strike action takes place, clear the way for a non-stop drive in building America's defense machine.

Overthrowing its pro-German leaders, a rebellious Yugoslavia under the leadership of 17-year old King Peter II joined company with Greece in boldly defending its sovereignty. That challenge of a nation of 15 million persons against Nazi might hands Germany another war front, when that front is already stretched from Scandinavia to the Black Sea. The necessity of 11th hour resistance in the Balkans, as well as the conquest of Rumania and Bulgaria, might have been avoided, had Balkan powers united in time instead of blindly placing faith in a neutral, do-nothing policy. Nevertheless, the victims and vanquished will blame Germany and not themselves for the disasters which have befallen them, which means the number of Europe's people who hate Adolf Hitler and hope for his downfall, increases with every conquest he makes. As current overlord of a continent of smouldering rebellion, Hitler faces a potential war front in every conquered country, and the greater the menace of those fronts the longer the war continues.

The picture of America's older citizens as being solely made up of seekers of bigger pensions fails to square with the facts. Today, reports the Social Security Board, at least 500,000 citizens over 65 remain hard at work on their regular jobs. All of them are eligible for old-age payments—if they will quit. But they refuse. As between a pension and an honest-to-goodness job, half a million oldersters declare for work!

Although savage air attacks upon English cities are reducing many homes, buildings and hospitals to rubble, it is not the destruction of such edifices that will win the war for Germany. Strangulation of Britain by a sea blockade is the grim weapon which Germany is wielding with renewed fury to break the vital supply lines to that island. The gathering effectiveness of U-boat warfare in crippling those lines is evident in the toll of British shipping revealed by the British Admiralty. Up to March 9, more than 5 million tons had been lost—almost one-fourth the tonnage with which Britain entered the war 18 months ago. This loss, greater than that suffered by England and her allies during the first 31 months of World War I, does not include damaged ships laid up for repair, nor those lost due to collisions in blacked-out ports — a number which is believed to be considerable. Part of this 5-million ton loss has been recouped by new construction, and by ships purchased from friendly powers. Nevertheless, it is on her open seaways, exposed to incessant attack by bombers, raiders, and prowling U-boats, that Britain still stands imperiled.

Citizens in some South American countries are protesting to their governments. On purchasing bars of soap made in Germany, they have discovered printed matter inside the wrappers extolling Nazism. Though we haven't received the actual soap, the United States has become very familiar with that particular brand of "soft soaping," always easily identifiable by its lullaby refrain: "Go to sleep, America. You have nothing to fear."

One of California's most celebrated stories has crumbled beneath the weight of long hidden facts now brought to light. Remember Death Valley Scotty? His fabulous gold mine, his secret and inexplicable store of wealth, his sumptuous Death Valley castle? In the course of a court hearing in Los Angeles, the truth about them has at last been exposed. Death Valley Scotty never had a mine, secret or otherwise, except some claims. He neither found nor sold any gold, nor does he own the castle which bears his name. It was one Albert N. Johnson of Chicago, a millionaire—before he met Scotty!—who, believing Scotty had found vast amounts of gold in a secret mine, advanced him numerous loans totaling several hundred thousands of dollars. Such was the source of "secret wealth." No lucky miner, but a backwoods slicker who sold an innocent city man a worthless piece of desert was how Federal Judge Harrison characterized Death Valley's most celebrated character. So ends a legend. Scotty has told his last tall tale.

Motorists of 44 states are happier these days because they did not have to renew their license plates on the first of January. Thirty states have modified their laws to postpone permanently the date of registration from one to three months after the first of the year; 14 additional states provide periods of grace up to 60 days.

Wedding invitations and announcements—printed or engraved—and in latest type faces—are reasonable at the NEWS office.
